For the Farmer.

How to Make Corrings Grow .- When lluding to the manner of propagating cuttings, the N. E. Farmer says that it has been ascer tained that a cutting will develop roots much sooner in moist sand than in rich soil. But the same cannot maintain its gaowth for any length of time. To prepare pots for raising cuttings they should be filled nearly to the brim with rich, garden loam—dark and porous, not clayer and soggy; then pour in one inch in depth of scouring sand—sea sand will do as well as the yellow sand. Wet this thoroughly. and place the cuttings, from which all but the three or four upper leaves have been removed close to the side of the pot; the contact of the ware against the stem of the cutting promot its growth. Press the wet sand firmly around the tiny stem. A great deal of your chance for success in raising alips or cuttings depends upon tois. Plant as many cuttings as the pot will hold, from six to a dozen, according to the size of your pot; when they are firmly set in the sand, two or three can be inserted in the middle of the pot. Set them away in a dark warm place for twenty-four or thirty-six hours Thus cuttings will grow quickly in a hot bed because the temperature is not dry. Their growth depends a great deal upon light, heat and moisture. If a bud is close at the base of a cutting it will strike root more easily-is not so apt to decay. The roots shoot from a bud and the lower down it is the surer your success. When the leaves drop, the plant is commen ing to grow; if they wither on the stem, it has begun to decay. By following these directions no one can fail to grow all kinds of house plants. Roses, and all the rarest flowers of the green houses are propagated in this manner.

PRUNING CURRANT BUSHES .- In those sections of country where the buds of current and goose bury bushes are just beginning to expand, if the ing has not already been done, it should be performed immediately. To do this proper-ly, it is necessary to begin when the plants are very young; and then, when carefully and juusly treated, handsome bushes may be produced of almost any desired shape. The fluest flavored fruit is produced on the spurs of old wood; but the largest on young wood of the previous summer. The English mode of pruning is usually adopted; but we doubt if it is the best for this climate, all things considered. It will not do to prune large fruit trees, such as apple and pear, in the English manner, and why gooseberries and currents? The latter, if trained to a single stem, is usually more trouble than profit, and the thioning out process with the former does not by any means aid in securing a crop. Gooseberries and currents should have a good coat of manure forked in about their roots, and all grass and weeds removed, keeping clean during the summer; and thus treated, they will amply reward their owner for the additional care .- American Farmer.

How TO WHAP CUTTINGS AND SHALL PLANTS -Spread a thin layer of dry moss over a shoot of paper; then wash the carth from the roots of the plants and place them upon it in layers, putting moss between; place snother thin layer of moss over when you have all the plants you desire to send; put in place and commence a one side of the paper and roll up the moss and plants tightly; then, wrap again with oiled silk or paper to hold the moisture in the package, and afterwards wrap with paper on which you can write the address. The firmer the package is rolled, if with sufficient mess, the less the plants are liable to break or to be injured by Prunes, Dried Apples and Peaches, most delicious food in the world. rough handling. It is better to use dry moss and dampen the roots, because there is not so much danger of getting plants too wet and causing decomposition; besides the dirt has to be removed from the plant; and it is done more safely by the use of water. With the use of dry moss and damp roots, the moisture is just where it ought to be; when in using damp moss and dry roots, the foliage is apt to be kept just as damp as the roots .- Prairie

PROPAGATING APPLES BY CUTTINGS -Apple cuttings have been induced to grow, in certain DRY GOODS & GROCERIES. ily as cuttings of currents and gooseberries By selecting twigs of the preceding year's DRY GOODS & GROCERIES. growth, about six inches long, which are fully matured, thrusting the butt erd into a potat as large as a ben's egg, planting them in a warm corner, with about one inch of the top end above the surface of the ground, if the ground is kept moist, some of the cuttings will strike roots and grow. But there is so much uncertanity about this matter, that the better way is to propagate from seeds. I have in mind a young man who plarted an apple cutting or which there was a fruit bud. The soil and exposure were just right to favor the production of roots, and the cutting grew and actually produced an apple the first season.

Asurs FOR Faury TREES .- The editor of the Horticulturist says: "We have known quite number of instances-indeed, so often as to make it quite a rule—that old orchards apparently dying out have been brought back again to fruitfulnes by the liberal use of wood-ashes also stirring the soil. Potash is the most im portant element in the successful growth of all kinds of fruit trees. An old gentleman told a club, not long ago, that he had known a man to make and preserve an orchard of apple trees in a flourishing and productive condition, or-iginally placed on very poor ground, by sprink-ling every year around each tree, to the cirference of the extent of its branches, balf a bushel of ashes. We consider this a very important item."

Mowing Laws .- It should be remembere that the first mowing of lawns ought to be done as soon as the grass gets three or four inches high. It adds greatly to the velvety appearance and beauty of the lawn. If the grass is left untill it grows eight, ten or twelve inches high, the roots become somewhat exhausted, bare and yellow spots are to be seen, and this takes sometimes' a whole season to recover In a word, the oftener lawns are mown the more permanent they become and the more attractive they appear. Al! lawns, before the grass begins to grow, should be thoroughly rolled just after a rain, when the sward is soft and impressible. Germantown Telegraph.

He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directious are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases, a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single hottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. #### BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

To my United States and World-Wide Readers.

HAVE received many testimonials from professional and medical meo, as my almanaes and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following, from a highly educated a popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications. I have ever received. Dr. Clem. $10,613,474 45 munications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and bis testimony deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of Bull's Worm Destroyer: 5,974,793 39 VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, GA., ?

Dr. John Bull—Dear Ser: I have recently given your Worm Destroyer several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you, is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it on easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great trary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D.'s, hat I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, sima remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to use that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or superster of the themsels of advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless no-trums that flood the country, that purport to core all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms.

I am, sir, most respectfully, JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.
